Elkhorn students work for food bank & for Haiti

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Students at Elkhorn Village Elementary School haven't forgotten about the earthquake that devastated much of Haiti.

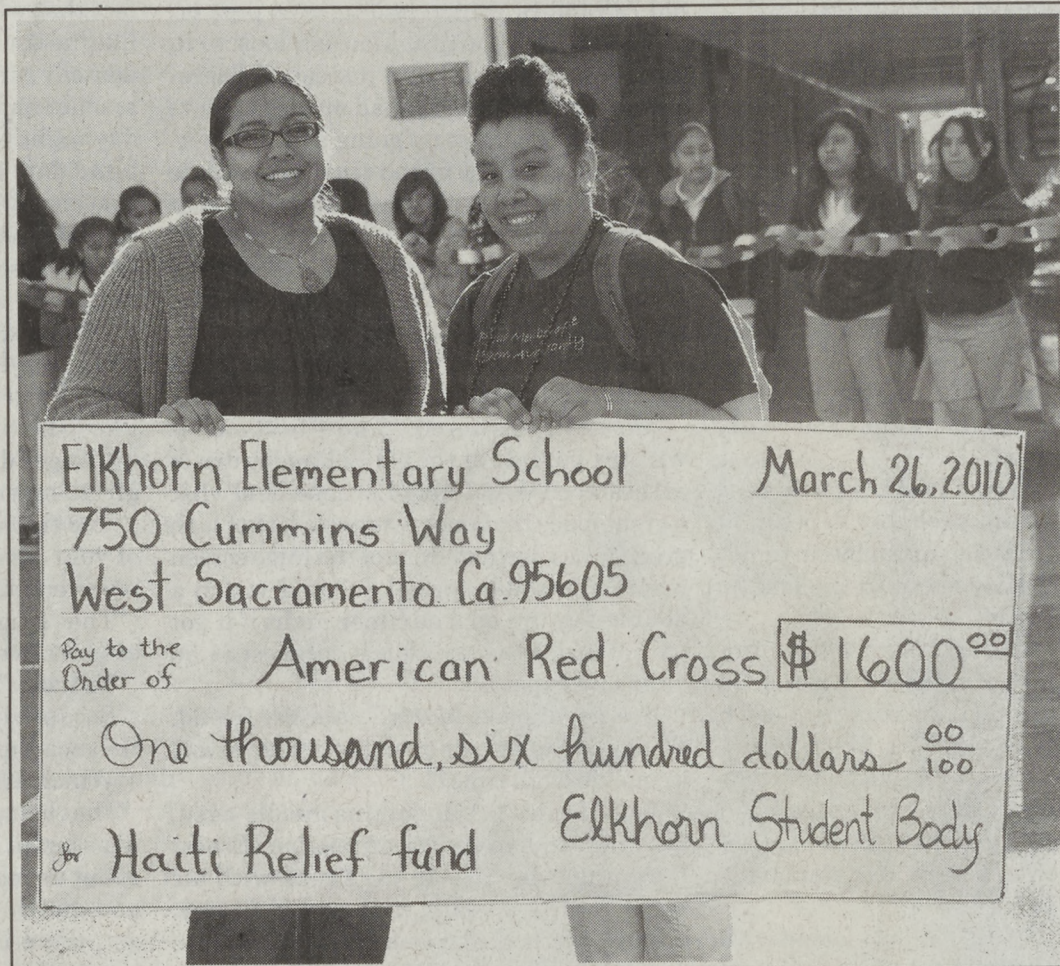

The student body voted this year to raise money for earthquake victims on that island nation, holding a competition between classes.

"$1,600 was our total," said Rachel Woody, and outreach specialist at the school. "The winning class in the K-5 (kindergarten-through-fifth grade) was Ms. Chapman's 5th grade class, for a total of $208.75. The (competition in the) 6-8th grade classes was between the boys and the girls. The 6-8th grade girls won, with a total of $258.41."

How did they raise the money?

"They raised it from family and friends," said Woody. "Each class did it differently."

The money went to the American Red Cross, earmarked for Haiti.

Marisela Romero, a seventh-grade teacher at Elkhorn Village Elementary School, holds a check with student Shantal Walker, an 8th grader.

Students connect and pick up a symbolic paper chain

Late in March, the school celebrated both the Haiti effort and the annual canned food drive effort (which supports the Broderick Christian Center's food bank) at an outdoor assembly. For each can of food collected, each class formed a "link" in a paper chain. For the assembly, each class brought its chain outside and the students joined each section together in a "giving chain ceremony" on the playground.

"We do the drive either at Thanksgiving time or Easter time," said Woody. "The largest collection ever brought in was 2,200 cans of food."

'Crossings': bridging two cities

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

It has always been a touchy subject.

For at least a couple of decades, West Sacramentans have clamored for another bridge or two across the river to I-5. Opponents of the idea — such as many Land Park-area homeowners — have taken umbrage, fearing that a bridge from West Sacramento would put more cars on their local streets.

Fifteen or 20 years ago, West Sacramento's leaders talked mostly about a "Sutterville Bridge," crossing from Southport (near Linden Road or Lake Washington Blvd.) to the Sutterville Road interchange at I-5. More recently, both Sacramento and West Sacramento (not always amicable partners) have jointly planned some of their shared downtown riverfront area, recognizing the need for more "connectedness" and more bridges between them.

And in the past couple of years, talk has concentrated on a new bridge connecting from West Sacramento to Broadway in Sacramento.

"A year or two ago, we were focused on a Broadway Bridge, and we realized we needed to take a step back," Maureen Pascoe, a capital improvements manager for the city, told the News-Ledger. "We needed to talk not about where to build a bridge, but why. What is it we hope to have a bridge accomplish? That will help us evaluate alternative locations."

"For example," she said, "many people like to suggest a bridge at the far southern edge of Sacramento, near Florin Road or Meadowview Road. That would land on a remote part of West Sacramento on its southern end. That area isn't planned for intensive development. It wouldn't help. One of the objectives (to build a bridge) is to relieve traffic on Jefferson, and putting a bridge on the southern end of the city doesn't help."

West Sacramento and Sacramento have kicked off a new workshop process to try to come up with a "crossings" strategy that works pretty well for everyone. The discussion could, theoretically, end up recommending other ways of crossing the river besides vehicle bridges — ferries, even. A group of "stakeholders" from both cities — including representatives of neighborhood associations and other activists — was invited to start the discussion.

About 30 of them showed up on Monday, along with about a dozen spectators. They met in a community room at the Sacramento Zoo, not far from a flock of flamingoes enjoying a break in the stormy weather.

"At this point, everything is on the table," Fran Halbakken of the City of Sacramento told the assembled group. "This study is all about identifying and understanding the consequences of future decisions."

Sacramento's general plan "calls for Sacramento to be linked to the rest of the region," she said, and that linkage would include trails, bridges and other infrastructure.

A consultant from Fehr and Peers told the stakeholders that if a new bridge goes in, it won't happen quickly. The project will need design work and environmental review as well as time for construction. "When you talk about major infrastructure projects in California, you're talking about a number of years," he said. "Ten to 15 years is not uncommon."

The News-Ledger was present for part of the meeting.

Pascoe said the initial comments from the stakeholders seemed to show some open-mindedness.

"There was no one saying, 'no bridge, anywhere, anyhow,'" she told the News-Ledger. "There were people who said they were highly skeptical about bridges in specific locations."

"There's an appreciation for the relevance of transportation improvements in the greater context," she added. "Nobody can afford to wall off their neighborhood. We're talking about not just neighborhoods, but about people who travel throughout the region — they use I-5, they use the Yolo Causeway."

The new joint planning effort will meet again, and will open up for public comment at some point, said Pascoe. Details, including a project website address, aren't yet available. But another "stakeholder" meeting on May 10 is planned. There may be a stakeholder "field trip" earlier.

Transit center breaks ground

The City of West Sacramento has partnered with the Yolo County Transportation District to construct a $2.5 million transit center at West Capitol and Merkle avenues in the downtown Civic Center, adjacent to the library, the college campus, City Hall, and the new Community Center, now under construction.

The transit center will accommodate six bus berths, paratransit access, bike parking, taxi and drop off stations. Two transit shelters are included, providing seating, shading, landscaping and protection from the weather. Yolo bus expects to serve the transit center 150 times each weekday and nearly 100 times each Saturday and Sunday, connecting the center throughout the region.

What's your favorite movie of all time?

I was talking to a friend the other day and somehow our conversation turned to the silver screen and she asked me if I had a favorite movie.

"Oh," I said, "there's way too many of them to pick out just one."

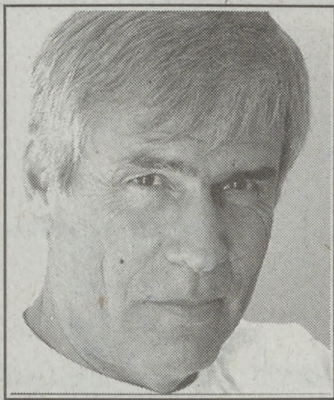

"Really?" she said with apparent interest. "Well, then pick out a half-dozen!"

"Okay," I said, warming to the task, "I guess I would start with those great old film noir movies, you know, like The Maltese Falcon with Humphrey Bogart, and Double Indemnity with Barbara Stanwyck and Fred Mac Murray and Edward G. Robinson, and Mildred Pierce with Joan Crawford, and The Letter, with Bette Davis, and Casablanca with Bogart and Bergman, and Murder, My Sweet, with Dick Powell and Claire Trevor."

"Murder, My Sweet?" asked my friend with a puzzled expression. "I don't think I've ever heard of that one."

"Well, the dialogue in it is fabulous," I said, "like when Dick Powell describes a woman he's trying to find as 'a charming middle-aged lady with a face like a bucket of mud'."

My Back Pages

If you ask me, he was the perfect Philip Marlow."

"Who's Philip Marlow?"

"You've never heard of Philip Marlow?"

"Nope, I'm afraid not."

"Well, he was the main character in all of those wonderful Raymond Chandler mystery novels that got turned into so many great movies, and lots of different actors have played him over the years, from Bogart to Robert Mitchum."

"Daryl," said my friend with obvious concern, "haven't you seen any current movies that you really liked?"

"Well," I said, "I guess that would probably depend on what you mean by current?"

"How about in the last 20 years?"

After giving it a few minutes of serious thought, I did manage to come up with two. "Well, I liked Moonstruck with Nicholas Cage and Cher, and I also liked Shawshank Redemption with Tim Robbins and Morgan Freeman."

"Well," said my friend with a hint of hope in her face, "I guess we are getting a little more current, but those movies are at least a decade old, too. Haven't you seen any movies you've liked in this century?"

"Other than Woody Allen movies?" I asked.

"Other than Woody Allen movies," she replied firmly.

"Then the answer would be no," I admitted.

"Really?" asked my friend, obviously worried. "You're telling me that you haven't seen a single movie in the 21st century that you liked?"

"Well," I answered, "that's probably because I just don't go to the movies anymore."

"Why not?"

"Well, one of the reasons is because all the old wonderful theaters in this area have been torn down and replaced by little tiny ones in shopping malls with uncomfortable seats and $10 bags of popcorn. And you're probably too young to remember the truly great theaters we once had around here, like the old Alhambra, which had its own pipe organ and this beautiful Moorish look to it, like it belonged in Spain instead of Sacramento. Now if they still had movie theaters like that, I might start going again."

Anyway, after my friend tried at length to explain to me that it's the actual movie that counts, not where you view it, I decided to agree with her to the extent that I saw my favorite movie of all time at a drive-in theater, not a fancy movie palace.

"And what movie was that?" my friend asked with interest.

"Marty," I answered. "And I first saw it with my parents at the old El Rancho drive-in theater on West Capitol Avenue. And what a great place that once was, with lots of lush green grass down in front of the huge screen where you could sprawl out and watch a double-feature on a summer night if it got too hot inside the car. Plus it only cost $1.50 a carload to get in!"

"I've never seen Marty," said my friend. "What is it about, and why is it your favorite movie of all time?"

"Well," I said, "it's about this middle-aged, heavy-set Italian-American butcher (Ernest Borgnine) who lives in the Bronx with his mother. He's a really nice and kind guy, but he's not much to look at and he has reluctantly resigned himself to being a bachelor for the rest of his life. He even tells his mother that he's just got to face up to the fact that whatever it is in men that women like, he doesn't possess it. Anyway, he accidentally runs into a very plain-looking school teacher named Clara at a dance one Saturday night who has been abandoned by her blind date and they strike up a friendship that slowly leads to a romance, even though Marty's mother and friends disapprove of her because she's not very good looking. But at the end of the movie, Marty angrily tells his friends, 'You don't like her. My mother don't like her. You all think she's a dog. Well, I'm a fat, ugly man, and if Clara and I keep having good times together, I'm going to get down on my knees and beg that girl to marry me!'"

"And that simple little plot is at the heart of your favorite movie of all time?" asked my friend in disbelief.

"That's right. And I've watched it dozens of times over the years."

"But why?"

"Because it always reminds me of three of the most important things in life."

"Which are?"

"That being a good and kind person always wins out in the end, that what others think about us really doesn't matter one little bit, and that no matter how fat, old and ugly we get, there is always someone out there to love us."

West Sacramento's fire department has been training firefighters for an 'engineer's practical exam, scheduled for tomorrow. Above, the ladder truck is in training use.

On April 2, the department responded in large force to a fire at a laundromat on the 1500-block of Jefferson Blvd. After verifying that everyone was out of the strip mall of businesses, they extinguished a fire in a dryer unit. Some clothes in the dryers were burned. The cause of the fire was believed to be a build-up of dryer lint.

SPORTS INSIDER

By Richard Novoa

Don't look now, but the San Francisco Giants (6-1) and the Oakland A's (6-2) are leading their perspective divisions in a very impressive first week of Major League baseball. Since losing their home opener, the A's are on a roll, beating up the Mariners taking three out of four in Seattle and then Oakland took two out of three from the once scary Los Angeles Angels. The A's finished 22 games behind the Angels last season!

The Giants are also enjoying a great start to the 2010 season, sweeping the Astros in Houston and taking two of three from the Braves at home with some old-fashioned pitching and timely hitting. The Giants made a late season run at the pennant last season but their lack of hitting in the middle of the batting order doomed the G-Men in September.

So what's the key to winning for our two Bay Area clubs? Is it the cold weather? Or maybe it's the rain followed by miserable high velocity winds? But, if you guessed pitching your absolutely correct!

The A's have a young pitching staff but the return of Justin Duchscherer to the mound after an elbow injury that sidelined the 32-year-old pitcher for 20 months is a great story. Duchscherer, who was an All-Star in 2005 and 2008, has given the A's two excellent starts. Also, newly acquired second baseman from the Reds in a trade, Adam Rosales has provided some great fielding but more importantly some clutch hitting.

The G-Men are on fire with their solid pitching staff and their surprising clutch hitting from the middle of the batting order but it's been the bat of the Kung Fu Panda, Pablo Sandoval, who's been carrying the Giants along with Edgar Renteria who's batting a cool .440.

Another interesting note is that Barry Zito is 2-0 and has been pitching better than ever and if you add his arm to the already solid starting pitching staff of Lincecum, Cain and Sanchez with Wilson closing — look out, Dodgers!

The Giants will be at home playing the Pirates until Thursday when the G-Men visit their arch-rivals in Los Angeles. Speaking of the Dodgers, the Giants will play a three game series against the Dodgers starting on Friday night followed by a quick ride down I-5 on Monday to play San Diego in a three game series. The A's will finish their road trip in Seattle before they come home to host Baltimore over the weekend followed by a three game series with the World Champion New York Yankee, starting on Tuesday, April 20th.

River Cats

The River Cats (3-2), who are finishing up their season opening road trip that took them on a pair of four game series to Portland and Tacoma, will be coming home to the friendly confines of Raley Field for their Home Opener against the Reno Aces on Friday, April 16th (7 p.m.).

The Gatos signed former A's slugger Jack Cust, who was released during spring training, to fill in as designated hitter for Sacramento. Cust will provide the River Cats with some power hitting from the left side of the Center hands RCHS first conference loss in four years

From River City H.S.

It hasn't happened often over the past 15 years, and it hadn't occurred even once since April of 2006, but the River City High School Tennis Team lost a Capital Valley Conference (CVC) match last week, falling to visiting Center 5 to 4. A search through Raider Coach Dave Brooks' cluttered clipboard showed the loss snapped a remarkable win streak of 49 consecutive CVC contests, a school record for any varsity sport, eclipsing the mark of 48 straight league wins by the tennis team between 2001 and 2005.

"It's the first CVC loss for any member of the 2010 team in their high school careers. The seniors had never lost a league match in their four seasons, but we'll regroup and work through it," said Brooks. "We had good chances in several of the five matches we lost to Center, but we just didn't get the job done."

The Raiders got straight-set singles wins from Thomas Thao (6-2, 6-3 at #1 boys), Sarah Aguilar (6-0, 6-3 at #1 girls), and Ranika Prasad (6-0, 6-1 at #2 girls). At #2 boys singles, Vongsri Vang dropped a marathon 4-6, 6-2, 4-6 contest. The lone doubles victory was from the top boys duo of Phi Dinh and Victor Vang, 10-7. The #2 boys team of Trevor Langford fell 5-10, as did the #2 girls pair of Tuyet Hoang and Christine Maltez. Monica Anaya and Michelle Truong lost the #1 girls doubles match 8-10 and Lai Saetern and Terry Vang suffered a 3-10 defeat in mixed doubles.

The Raiders are now 7 and 1 in the CVC and 11 and 2 overall in 2010. The second loss was 4-3 to Bret Harte of Angels Camp, the two-time defending champion of the Mother Lode League. Against the Bullfrogs, RC received wins from Dinh and Thao (10-5 at #2 boys doubles), Langford and Prasad (10-1 in mixed), and Saetern and Truong (10-9 with a 7-3 tiebreak at #2 girls doubles).

It doesn't get any easier for River City as this week it travels to face CVC co-leader West Campus, hosts Antelope, and then heads south to take on defending Sac-Joaquin Section Division III champion Escalon of the Trans Valley League. Escalon handed the Raiders their only two losses last season, 6 to 3 in the regular season and 5 to 2 in the semifinals of the Section playoffs.

It's 50 years for Mitchells

Betty and Bill Mitchell, who met as classmates at James Marshall High School in West Sacramento in 1958, will mark 50 years of marriage on April 22.

The couple will celebrate their golden anniversary with family and friends on April 24.

Bill Mitchell "semi-retired" as owner of United Building Services in 2007, but continues to help manage the company. He golf, explores caves, and enjoys camping.

The pair have a volunteer ministry.

The couple's children are Jody Mitchell-Carroll, Alan Mitchell, Tirza Mitchell-Warren and Tiffany Mitchell Kent.

They also have nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

plate and could possibly work his way back to the big leagues, if he cuts down on his strikeouts.

He led the A's in home runs (25), walks (93) and strikeouts (185) for the third consecutive season in 2009. The 32-year-old left-handed hitter has a .241 batting average, 84 home runs, 229 RBI, 309 walks and 546 strikeouts in 421 games over the previous three seasons with the A's. Now, that's a lot of K's.

The Gatos will be showing off one of their new prospects in right fielder, Michael Taylor, who is off to a sizzling start hitting for the cycle over the first three games. Taylor hit a triple, home run and a double on Saturday and has six hits in 15 at bats. The A's have another top prospect in first baseman Chris Carter but he's been struggling a bit and is batting under .100 in the first five games.

The River Cats will have eight members of the Cats' Opening Night roster from last year, as well as members of their coaching staff, Manager Tony DeFrancesco, pitching Coach Rick Rodriguez and hitting Coach Brian McArn, who were all part of last season's division title club in 2009.

Tickets are still available for the Home opener by going to Ticketmaster.com or stopping by the Raley Field Box Office.

Kings Korner

The Sacramento Kings (25-56) close out their 2010 season with a night cap in Los Angeles against the Lakers on Tuesday night after winning only 25 games this season eclipsing their 17 game winning season of last year.

The Kings started the season 13-14 but faded fast around Christmas and posted a weak 12-42 record after such a promising start. The Golden State Warriors put together a modest winning streak and have moved up a notch on Sacramento putting the Kings at the bottom of the Western Conference just ahead of the Minnesota Timberwolves (15-66).

The news wasn't all bad this season because the Kings did have Tyreke Evans who became the fourth rookie in NBA history to average 20 points, five rebounds and five assists putting him on the same page as NBA greats Oscar Robertson, Michael Jordan and King James. Evans should be a lock for the rookie-of-the-year award, with only Warriors guard Stephen Curry the only real competition.

The Kings also pick up the option on their head coach Paul Westphal contract for the 2011-12 season. Westphal improved the Kings Season record by 8 games but his leadership will bring some stability to the Kings young players and provide a good base to building a better club.

The Kings have salary cap money available and are good position in the 2010 draft so things are looking up for next year. Also, rumor has USA basketball chairman Jerry Colangelo inviting Evans to be part of Team USA's 27-man roster for this summer.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

The Sacramento River registered 3 feet 4 inches, United States gauge at the Southern Pacific bridge yesterday. This measurement was taken at low tide and is not an indication of the gauge of the stream at high tide, for at this writing there is an average raise of about one foot at every high tide.

Frank Janik moved his family into the service station he built lately across the street from West Sacramento headquarters. Janik is a millwright by trade, having learned his business in the old country, and the job completed by him lately is a credit to any builder. With his wife he intends to make his future home in the district and for a business will have the oil station, serving gas, oils and other necessities for automobiles. In a week or two he expects to install a soft drink stand near the station, selling ice cream, tobacco, notions and other household necessities. The living quarters of the station consist of three rooms, beautifully fitted with Janik's handiwork.

Mrs. B. Moss has returned to her home from Pacific Grove, where she spent a few weeks recuperating. She was greatly benefitted by the visit to the seashore and may return there some time in the near future.

E. L. Blackington has been confined to his home for the past few days with a dose of rheumatism. Yesterday he was somewhat improved but is still confined to his home.

At the auto service station on Fifth street, conducted by Fraser & Doyle, a roofer stand has been set up and will be in charge of another man, in addition to the force already at work at the station. It is the intention of these boys to give the best possible service, and with a growing trade they felt that the great amount of travel on the highway warranted the placing of a roofer stand at the station.

Miss Annie Nolan of San Francisco and Miss Mollie Armstrong of Slough House were visitors at the Leinberger home last Tuesday. They returned to their individual homes on Wednesday evening.

G. E. Leinberger, father of Walter Leinberger, with his two daughters, left Sacramento last Monday to visit Canada and be present at a convention of the air brake officials of the several roads in Canada and the United States. Following the convention he and his two daughters will travel throughout the east for several weeks, visiting at New York, Philadelphia, Washington, New Orleans and other points of interest. At the Southern Pacific depot Monday evening a great crowd of friends assembled to bid them farewell, so that it appeared to those who were not on the inside that Leinberger was about to be married again. They do not expect to return to their home in Sacramento for about two months.

The Canteen Oil Station, just west of the subway at the end of Fifth street, has established a roofer station in a part of the building. In this place also the proprietors, Partridge & McNally, will also maintain a place for soft drinks, ice cream and other summer delicacies. A growing trade has prompted these men to expand their business, for since they have been in the location they have continuously moved ahead with the approval of the traveling public and the people of the neighborhood who know them.

A Japanese team of baseball players direct, from Japan will play an all-star team picked from Washington and Sacramento players at the ball grounds in West Sacramento next Sunday.

The visiting team learned to play in Japan and it is going to be a curiosity for many to see if they really play baseball as it should be played. This visiting team believes itself capable of meeting some of the professionals and the game next Sunday will be witnessed by several great players of Sacramento to gauge the strength of the visitors.

Edward Butters and family of Rio Vista spent last Sunday in Washington as the house guests of friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gallagher and family of Topeka, Kansas, are spending an extended visit in Washington as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dupzyk.

Mrs. Frank De Riso, Sr., is spending a short while in Oakland on a combined business and pleasure trip.

A party composed of Mrs. Fred Gale, Frank Gale and Jack Dassonville spent last Tuesday in San Francisco.

Miss Stacey Armstrong, county supervisor of music, and Miss M. Stewart, county supervisor of English, were visitors this week in the Washington school from their offices in Woodland.

Harley Austin, who has been spending a short while in Colusa on business, returned to his Washington home.

L. E. Sorrell, who has been residing in the Moffitt home in Washington, has purchased a home in Hagginwood, which he is now occupying.

Miss Ethel Cook, who has been spending the past week in Washington visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Cook, returned last Sunday to Napa to resume her duties as a teacher in one of the schools.

Mrs. William Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eagan and Ray Russell spent last Sunday at Wilbur Hot Springs on a pleasure trip.

Mrs. Celia Hart, who has been spending a few days in the Fresno section as the guest of friends, returned to her home.

Robert Gaskell, a resident of Los Angeles, is spending a short while in WASHINGTON BOOSTERS' CLUB WILL HAVE CLEAN-UP AND PAINT-UP WEEK AS SOON AS PROPER ARRANGEMENTS CAN BE MADE

Although only a small attendance was present at the Washington Boosters Club last Tuesday at the town hall, many proposals were made for the advance and benefit of the community.

Attention was called again to the fact that automobile drivers after crossing the bridge from Sacramento and passing the public school building seem to have no regard for the speed limit, although road signs have been placed indicating that a school is to be passed. The secretary reported that notification had been sent to Supervisor Beardslee and he had been requested to ask traffic cops of the county to give the matter attention.

The membership committee of the club reported that no progress had been made in securing increased membership but promised that before next meeting there would be an improvement. One business man who had been reported as speaking in a deprecating way of the club was reported to have apologized.

The question of dues was left over until a committee on by-laws would report, which was expected to be next Tuesday evening.

Attention was called to the fact that a new survey of the town was being made and that the old stakes or monuments had been entirely obliterated.

To straighten up this question an original map of the town was brought forward which had been published in the Independent on November 6, 1914.

Complaint was made that the sidewalk from the end of the bridge to the town hall is now in poor condition, having been left that way when the county road was built from the end of the bridge north to Elizabeth street.

The secretary was instructed to write to the division superintendent of the Southern Pacific Company, calling attention to this matter and also calling the attention of Supervisor Beardslee to the question.

Subsequent action was taken in relation to the naming of a committee to interview the division superintendent of the Southern Pacific Company, asking his help in the matter.

The committee appointed by the chair consists of Mrs. P. A. Hart, Mrs. Ray Peek and Mrs. W. Painter.

Whether it be sewerage, decaying offal or smoke from the rice mills or refuse from the slaughter house or odor from the gas works in the Sacramento, the question was brought up that when a south wind blows there seems something in the air, especially in the evenings, that disturbs the nasal sensibilities of some people.

For a time the blame was thrown on the slaughter house, then on the rice mills, again on the gas works and finally on the sewerage from Sacramento.

At any rate it was decided by the club that something must be done to abate the nuisance, for, at times, it becomes very obnoxious to the people. J. Pereira was appointed a committee of one to investigate conditions at the slaughter house and report at the next meeting of the club.

The question of garbage collection caused considerable comment. Piles of old cans lay around in the back yards of homes or are being thrown into the gutters by householders. On that account it was proposed that a clean-up day be held in the near future so that every householder can have hauled away everything that is detrimental or useless.

Supervisor Beardslee will be interviewed by Ray Peek to ask him to provide a hole or dumping ground where old cans and other refuse may be dumped.

Rev. Ellis Purlee of Sacramento made a wonderful talk on municipal advancement. He showed how an organization like the Boosters Club can be of material benefit to the community, but he wanted to see more of the men of the community present at the meetings.

T. D. M. Slaven, another business man of Sacramento, was present at the meeting and drew attention to the fact that Washington could grow, would grow, and was about to grow, if only the people would stand together and boost the community. Los Angeles was built on a desert, he said, and Chicago was built on a swamp.

Following his remarks, a committee consisting of J. Pereira, Ray Peek and P. A. Fitzgerald was appointed to induce the men of the community to attend the Boosters Club meetings.

Slaven also drew attention to the condition of the levee between the Southern Pacific bridge and the M street bridge. Here could be found any day or evening a bunch of loafers who simply passed time sunning themselves in a most unusual and unhealthy way. Some victims of canned heat can be found here stupidly dozing in the sunlight and this condition could easily be remedied, for if other towns were blessed with a similar condition there would be a beautiful park along the river fit for enjoyment of young and old.

By unanimous vote the thanks of the Boosters Club was extended to the strangers who addressed the club, after which refreshments were served by Mrs. J. McNevin.

TAX DELINQUENCIES DOWN TO MINIMUM

Woodland, April 30.—Tax delinquencies will be as light this year as ever before, according to the first survey of the records just made by County Tax Collector R. W. Woods. At the outset it seemed that there would be a heavy delinquent list, but the rush of Monday reduced all chances of this being an abnormal season. It reflects the fact that the property owners are able to meet their obligations and are prepared for an off year, such as this is promised to be because of the light rains.

CANALS BEING CLEARED OUT BY DRAG-LINE DREDGER

West of the main canal in a direct line west from the Catholic church in West Sacramento a drag line dredger is being operated by the John Phillips Company of Oakland, clearing out the drainage and reclamation canal that extends from that point to the western levee.

The dredger is operated on a 45 horsepower Holt caterpillar base and equipped to turn in any direction.

This dredger is also equipped with electric lighting so that it operates night and day with three shifts of men and two men to the shift.

The bucket used by the dredger is of three-quarter yard capacity and it is astonishing at what speed it moves along in clearing out the dirt and weeds that have practically closed the canal.

A great number of the canals throughout the district have been similarly cleaned and the work will continue as long as the funds available for that purpose will last.

Some of the larger canals that do not need cleaning so badly will be left over till next year when the work will be started again to finish all the canals in the district.

TEIXEIRA NEARLY ENTIRELY RECOVERED FROM BROKEN BACK

Woodland, April 30.—Manuel Teixeira, prominent in the Broderick district, who a year ago broke his back-bone when a bale of hay fell upon him while he was assisting a neighbor in loading his produce, was in Woodland today visiting friends, practically a well man. He spent the best part of a year at the Sisters' Hospital in Sacramento, with all odds against his recovery. Excepting for one of his legs being weak as a result of the unusual accident, he is in the best of health. Mrs. Tixiera accompanied her husband to Woodland.

FILMING CORPORATION PLACES MANY LOCAL BOYS IN THE MOVIES

During several days of the past week and for several days to come several local boys have been working with Pauline Starke for the Fox Film Company, enacting the scenes of "The Man Without a Country," at the mouth of the American River.

Among those taking part in the show were Dave Barry, Seth Barry, P. Van Olinda, G. Mathena, Joe Eugene, E. Crow, Willie Dupzyk and Frank West.

The scenes were pictured at the junction of the American and Sacramento Rivers, where a crowd of over a hundred and fifty people in all were present to depict scenes that were originally enacted at the junction of the Ohio and Tennessee Rivers.

Barges, artfully constructed as replicas of those that were wont to float down the Ohio and Tennessee Rivers in the period at the beginning of the last century, when the region west of what is now Pennsylvania was termed the "Unknown West," have been floated past a battery of moving picture cameras, and then towed back again to repeat.

Men, women and children, garbed in the picturesque habiliments of the hardy pioneers of that day, with their equally picturesque household goods, have occupied these barges.

The moving picture prototype of Aaron Burr, the man whose killing of Alexander Hamilton in a duel in 1804 wrecked his political career and caused him to embark upon what at that time was considered a treasonable conspiracy to separate the West from the remainder of the United States and found a dynasty of his own, has landed and embarked; has talked "sedition" with Lieutenant Philip Nolan, all for the purpose of providing sequence leading up to picturing Nolan as "the Man Without a Country."

Four weeks ago Harry Bailey, business manager associated with the Fox

WASHINGTON BABES MAKE FINE SHOWING AT CLINIC

Of sixty-two children censused by the Red Cross of Yolo County a few weeks ago and varying between the ages of two and six years, forty-five were examined by a medical clinic held last Monday afternoon in the public school building.

Of the forty-five examined only two were found to be out of average weight or proportion for children of their age. One was found to be overweight and one two pounds under weight.

This is an excellent showing for the babes of the town and indicates not only splendid care on the part of the mothers, but an extremely healthy and sanitary condition in the community.

The balance of the sixty-two will be examined at a later date and a final report made to the Red Cross of Yolo County, who provided for the clinic.

The clinic consisted of Dr. Beebe and Dr. W. L. Bates of Woodland, accompanied by Miss Rozzie Carrow, Red Cross nurse of the county.

They reported before leaving for Woodland that the Washington clinic was the largest that had been in Yolo County and the results obtained in the way of prevailing conditions were better than found in any other section of the county.

At the meeting of the Washington Boosters Club last Tuesday night the thanks of the club were unanimously tendered to the members of the clinic and the secretary of the organization was requested to write to the members of the clinic, advising them of the action.

Film Company, under the direction of Director Rowland V. Lee, came to Sacramento with a corps of artisans. The site at the juncture of the Sacramento and American Rivers, previously selected personally by Lee as the ideal location for his purpose, was transformed from a tree-studded section of wilderness into a beehive of activity.

Stage carpenters skilled in "make-believe" hewed logs and sawed planks, and within a space of three weeks an exact replica of Fort Massac, an outpost of the American army of 1805, which was located on the Ohio River at the junction with the Tennessee, was erected.

Scenic artists, experts in their line, supplanted the carpenters, and with the aid of paints and natural products, transformed the raw lumber into the appearance of the old fort and stockade, with moss-grown log walls, block-houses at the corners, make-believe cannons, ponderous gates, barrack rooms, headquarters building, stores, a blacksmith shop, and even down to the seemingly inconsequential details of pens for oxen, sheep, hogs, chickens and horses.

Ordinary farm animals were used and the runaway, which, by the way, was filmed five or six times before the action was sufficiently co-related to suit Director Lee, was absolutely real.

In spite of the possibilities of injury to Hearne or to some of the other participants, and in spite of the fact that the runaway was repeated over and over again, even the horses escaped without a scratch.

Letters to the Editor

School board 'spectacle'

I write this letter after viewing the latest school board meeting. The spectacle that unfolded during discussion of the use of alternates on the School District/City 2x2 meetings was one of the most unprofessional, embarrassing displays by a board member ever.

Board Member (Matthew) Stegman pitched a full on tantrum over not being a main player on this committee even though he has already served in prior years. He not only openly questioned the appointments to the committee Board President Westin made months ago, he also challenged the president's authority to make the appointments in the first place. The longer this item went on the more rabid the attack on Board President Westin became, even to the point of Mr. Stegman demanding a legal opinion.

Seriously? A legal opinion?

Mr. Stegman cast one of the votes that pink slipped nearly every vice principal in the district. Not to mention cuts to counselors, the librarian, a nurse, individual site budgets, with more onerous cuts to come.

How very self indulgent of Mr. Stegman to waste meeting time and suggest the use of district funds on a legal opinion just because someone took his toys. This board has bigger fish to fry. The district is strapped for cash, the last API's showed district schools dropped anywhere from 2 to 36 points with the majority failing to meet state standards, and the district is in the midst of a search for a new superintendent.

Why would any superintendent worth their salt want to lead this district and be subject to that type of ridiculous nonsense? I commend Board President Westin for staying on point while being lambasted over this trivial issue. I also commend Board Members Blackmere and Vargas for voting "no" with the Board President in refusing to expend district funds to indulge Mr. Stegman. Mr. Stegman's seat is up in November, time for a change.

to-door to ask households the same questions that are on the questionnaire.

The only way for West Sac to get its fair share of the more than $4 trillion federal dollars over the next 10 years is for all of us to be counted in the Census. We're talking about funds for new roads and schools and services like job training centers. It will also determine how we are represented in Washington D.C.

I have been approached by numerous people who have said they have never received the questionnaire. If you are one of those folks, or if you run across people in this situation, tell them that they can give their answers over the phone or request that a form be sent to where they live. Have them do it today to ensure they can mail it back in time to avoid a census taker coming to their door.

West Sacramento has Census assistance centers open to help complete questionnaires and to answer questions. They are located at:

West Sacramento Senior Center: Monday through Friday 11am - 2 pm. Services available in English & Russian West Sacramento Recreation Center: Monday, Wednesday & Sunday 12pm - 5pm. Services available in English & Spanish.

The assistance centers will close on April 19th.

For telephone assistance, folks can call the following Telephone Questionnaire Assistance (TQA) numbers:

ENGLISH - 1-866-872-6868

Chinese: 1-866-935-2010

Korean: 1-866-955-2010

New 'farm stand'

The Bryte and Broderick Community Action Network is proud to announce our success in helping leverage resident-driven projects. Through our efforts in the BBC Institute we were able to help train residents in skills needed to take on projects for our community. As a result, resident and BBCAN member Brian Ridge had taken the initiative to develop a network of partners to create West Sacramento's first Urban

Farm Stand.

Said Brian:

"I saw a picture of the Farm Stand on the visioning poster and thought it would be cool if we had something like that in West Sac. So I started attending meeting and I found an organization called Alchemist who's purpose was to help communities bring produce stands and food security to their neighborhoods."

Since then, Brian has taken an active role in helping coordinate this effort through BBCAN, Alchemist Community Development Corporation and the West Sacramento Youth Resource Coalition. We want to congratulate Brian on his success and hope this inspires more residents to become active in meeting the needs of our community.

COUCH THEATER DVD PREVIEW

PICKS OF THE WEEK

"Avatar" (Rated PG-13) — Sam Worthington stars as Jake, a paraplegic soldier in the distant future who volunteers for a mission on the planet Pandora. With the use of a 9-foot-tall "avatar," Jake is to infiltrate the Na'vi tribe and learn everything about the planet's indigenous peoples so that the human colonists can displace or destroy the Na'vi in order to obtain Uroborium, a rare mineral that will solve Earth's energy crisis. Naturally, Jake "goes native," and leads the Na'vi in a battle against the humans.

"Avatar" is the highest-grossing film of all time. Director James Cameron, using a revolutionary motion capture technology, 3-D and state-of-the-art CGI has created a triumph of production design. In a 3-D theater, you actually feel transported to an alien world. The melding of live-action and computer-generated characters and landscapes is seamless.

Sadly, the dialogue is cringe-worthy, the plot hackneyed and the environmental/anti-corporate/anti-imperialism allegory is ham-fisted — making "Avatar" the most beautiful mediocre movie you'll ever see.

The DVD/Blu-Ray is being released on April 22 — Earth Day — because nothing says "I Care About The Planet" more than the production of millions of non-biodegradable discs and cases. And this is a bare-bones release. No special features, no multi-disc special editions. Nada. I suspect the reason behind this is because "Avatar" is going to be re-released later this year with 20-30 minutes of extra footage (which means yet ANOTHER DVD/Blu-Ray release just a time for the holidays. So, if you really really really need to have "Avatar" in your home, then go ahead and grab this edition. But my recommendation is to wait for the multi-disc special editions that'll be out later this year.

"Crazy Heat" (Rated R) — Jeff Bridges delivers another top-notch performance in this intimate and compelling character drama about Bad Blake, a singer-songwriter playing juke joints and clubs while his protegee Tommy Sweet (Colin Farrell) is rockin' the stadium tours. Blake hooks up with a reporter (Maggie Gyllenhaal) and begins a relationship with her and her son, while just around the corner a chance for stardom awaits.

Prosciutto-Wrapped Asparagus

Delicate, succulent asparagus is the perfect foil for salty prosciutto. You can assemble these early in the day and bake them at the very last minute.

- 24 spears thick asparagus, trimmed and peeled
- 12 slices (5 ounces) thin prosciutto
- 1/12 cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese
- 1/14 teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper

Strawberry-Rhubarb Pie

This sweet-tart confection is one for the family recipe box. It's just as tasty as Grandma's strawberry-rhubarb pie — but with one-fifth the calories. By replacing the butter-laden crust with a whole-grain crumble, we've eliminated more than 30 grams of total fat. A splash of citrus enhances the strawberries' natural sweetness, which helps make up for the almost two cups of sugar we cut from the traditional version. Got a spoon? Dig in!

- 1 small orange
- 1 pound strawberries, hulled and cut in half (or quarters if large)
- 10 ounce rhubarb, trimmed and cut into 1/2-inch-thick slices
- 1/14 cup granulated sugar
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1/13 cup old-fashioned oats
- 1/13 cup packed dark brown sugar
- 1/14 cup whole-wheat flour
- 1 pinch salt
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, slightly softened

1. Preheat oven to 375 F. From orange, grate peel and divide between 2 large bowls; squeeze 1/4 cup orange juice into small bowl.

2. In 1 large bowl with peel, combine strawberries, rhubarb and granulated sugar until well mixed. Into small bowl with juice, add cornstarch; stir until well-mixed. Stir juice mixture into fruit mixture until well combined. Pour into 9-inch glass or ceramic pie plate; spread filling in even layer.

3. In other large bowl with peel, combine oats, brown sugar, flour and salt. With pastry blender or fingertips, blend in butter until mixture forms coarse crumbs with a few pea-size pieces remaining.

4. Sprinkle oat mixture evenly over strawberry mixture. Place pie plate on foil-lined cookie sheet to catch any drips. Bake 45 minutes or until topping is golden brown and fruit filling is hot and bubbling.

5. Cool pie on wire rack until filling is set but still slightly warm, at least 1 hour. Serve warm. Serves 8.

Strange BUT TRUE

• It was American journalist, satirist, critic and editor H.L. Mencken who made the following observation: "For centuries, theologians have been explaining the unknowable in terms of the-not-worth-knowing."

• In a standard deck of playing cards, the only king without a mustache is the king of hearts.

• If you ever make a trip to Alaska, you might want to keep in mind the fact that it is illegal there to wake a sleeping bear for the purpose of taking its picture.

• Those who study such things claim that when a glass breaks, the cracks travel along the glass at a speed of more than 3,000 miles per hour.

• You probably know that the Wright Brothers made the first powered airplane flight in Kitty Hawk, NC. It was Dec. 17, 1903, and Orville piloted the aircraft a total of 120 feet. You might not be aware, however, that the length of that flight is shorter than the wingspan on one of today's Boeing 747s.

• An autumn visit to a corn maze in North Yorkshire in the United Kingdom last year turned disastrous for Anne Moon. When she reached her hand into a pen to pet a pig, the pig (named Ginger, incidentally) took Moon's hand into its mouth. The pig released the hand unharmed but kept the diamond out of the woman's engagement ring. The farmer who owned the attraction, Paul Caygill, then had to spend days searching for the gemstone in the pig's refuse.

The Devil's Daring House: The True Story of America's Deadliest Female Serial Killer by M. William Phelps (Lyons Press $24.95) Reviewed by Larry Cox

Lizzie Borden became famous for probably murdering her stepmother and father turn-of-the-century New England. At a lesser-known contemporary, Amy Archer-Gilligan, is much more interesting. Amy dispatched two husbands and possibly as many as 66 others in a fashion reminiscent of "Arsenic and Old Lace," a Broadway play that was loosely based on her case.

In his new book, M. William Phelps, tells the shocking, true story of this Victorian murderess in fascinating detail.

In 1911, Amy and her first husband, James Archer, opened a nursing home for the elderly in Newington, Conn. It was one of the first facilities of its kind and was so successful that a second one was opened in nearby Windsor six years later. Mr. Archer died shortly after the move, and Amy soon found a second husband, Michael Gilligan. Even though he was the picture of health, he, too, died, but not before he had drawn up a will leaving his new wife all of his estate.

The Archer Home for Elderly and Chronic Invalids became a rooming house of death. Patients who moved into the home paid $1,000 for what they were told would be lifetime care. The frequent deaths occurred whenever Amy received an application and needed a vacant room. To get that vacancy, she relied on arsenic. When a newspaper writer became suspicious, authorities were notified, and Amy was arrested. So began one of the most sensational investigations and trials of that era.

Phelps — whom Radio America calls "the nation's leading authority on the mind of the female murderer" — conducted extensive interviews and sifted through official trial transcripts and newspaper files to bring readers face-to-face with the matron of what the media of the day billed as a "murder factory."

remove any lingering dirt. Next, rinse the leaves, spreading them gently with your fingers to get at the dirt in the crevices. Both parts are edible. Although the white bulb is most often listed as part of recipes, the green leaves should also be incorporated in the recipes and as a garnish.

You also can use the leaves to add a wonderful burst of green color, to tie up appetizers into a package or to use as a frilly, edible garnish. To curl the ends, cut off the roots and all but about 3 inches of the green tops. Slice the tops lengthwise down from the green end into the white section. Put the leaves in cold water and chill for several hours to curl them.

While spring onions are best served raw, they're also delicious grilled or sautéed. Spring onions should be added during the final stages of a recipe for maximum flavor. This Spring Onion Pesto is the perfect way to flavor couscous or orzo pasta, to tuck under the skin of chicken, or to place on fish or pork before grilling or baking.

SPRING ONION PESTO

- 6 green onions, root ends removed, white bulbs and tops chopped
- 3 cloves garlic, peeled
- 2 tablespoons lemon zest
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1/12 teaspoon salt
- 1/14 teaspoon black pepper
- 1/12 cup olive oil

Using a food processor or a blender, finely grind the spring onions, garlic and lemon zest. Add the lemon juice, salt and pepper. Slowly drizzle in olive oil until everything is well-combined and creamy. Make up to 24 hours before using. Place the pesto in an airtight container and refrigerate.

WHEREAS, following notice duly published as required by the Act, before the adoption of the Resolution of Formation, a public hearing was held by the City Council regarding the issuance of bonds;

WHEREAS, the Yolo County Registrar of Voters has certified that fewer than twelve persons were registered to vote within the territory of the District as of December 18, 2009, which date is within the 90day period preceding the close of the hearing;

WHEREAS, the City Council has determined at this time to submit to the qualified electors of the District the levy of a special tax therein, the incurrence of bonded indebtedness, and the establishment of an appropriations limit for the District;

WHEREAS, the City Clerk has concurred in the election date set forth herein;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the City Council of the City of West Sacramento that:

1. Recitals. The foregoing recitals are true and correct.

2. Necessity of Bonded Indebtedness. The City Council deems it necessary to incur the bonded indebtedness.

3. Purpose of Debt. The indebtedness will be incurred for the purpose of financing the construction and acquisition of the facilities described in Exhibit B to the Resolution of Formation (the "Facilities").

4. Territory to be Taxed. The whole of the District shall pay for the bonded indebtedness.

5. Amount of Debt. The amount of bonded indebtedness to be incurred is $125,000,000.

6. Maximum Term of the Debt. The maximum term of the bonds of any series shall not exceed forty years from their date.

7. Maximum Interest Rate on the Bonds. The bonds shall bear interest at rate or rates not to exceed the maximum rate permitted by law at the time the bonds are issued, payable annually or semiannually or in such other manner as the City Council shall determine, the actual rate or rates and times of payment of such interest to be determined by the City Council at the time or times the bonds are issued.

8. Appropriations Limit. The City Council proposes that the appropriations limit, as defined by Article XIII B, Section 8(h), of the Constitution of the State of California, for the District be established in the amount of special taxes collected.

9. Accounting Measures. Pursuant to Sections 50075.1 and 53411 of the California Government Code, the City shall create separate accounts into which tax and bond proceeds will be deposited; and the Finance Director annually shall file a report with the City Council that will state (a) the amount of funds collected and expended and (b) the status of the Facilities financed in the District.

10. Special

Election; Voting Procedures. The City Council hereby submits the questions of levying the Special Tax, incurring the bonded indebtedness, and establishing the annual appropriations limit for the District to the qualified electors within the District, in accordance with and subject to the Act. The special election shall be held on Tuesday, May 4, 2010, and shall be conducted as follows:

(a) Qualified Electors. The City Council hereby determines that the Facilities are necessary to meet increased demands placed upon the City and other local agencies as a result of development occurring within the boundaries of the District. Because fewer than twelve registered voters resided within the District on December 18, 2009 (a date within the 90 days preceding the close of the public hearing on the establishment of the District), the qualified electors shall be the landowners within the District, and each landowner who was the owner of record at the close of the hearing shall have one vote for each acre or portion of an acre of land that such landowner owns within the District.

(b) Consolidation of Elections; Combination of Propositions on Ballot. As authorized by Government Code section 53351(h), the elections on the questions of levying the special tax, establishing an appropriations limit, and incurring a bonded indebtedness for the District shall be consolidated; and, as authorized by Government Code section 53353.5, the three propositions shall be combined into a single ballot proposition for submission to the voters. The combined ballot proposition shall read as shown in the form of the ballot attached hereto as Exhibit A.

(c) Mail Ballot Election. Pursuant to Government Code section 53327.5, the election shall be conducted by mailed ballot. The City Council hereby directs the City Clerk to mail to each landowner in the District a ballot in the form set forth in Exhibit A with return postage prepaid or by personal service to each such landowner, all as provided in Section 53326 of the Act.

(d) Return of Ballots. The City Clerk shall accept the ballots of the landowners up to 4:00 p.m. on the day of the election, whether the ballots be personally delivered or received by mail. The City Clerk shall have available ballots that may be marked at the City Clerk's office on the election day by voters. Once all qualified electors have voted, the City Clerk may close the election.

(e) Canvass of Election. The City Clerk shall commence the canvass of the returns of the special election as soon as the election is closed. At the conclusion of the canvass, the City Clerk shall report the results of the election to the City Council.

(f) Declaration of Results. The City Council shall declare the results of the special election following the completion of the canvass of the returns and shall cause to be inserted into its minutes a statement of the results of the special election as ascertained by the canvass of the returns.

11. Filing of Resolution with City Clerk. The City Council hereby directs the City Clerk to file a copy of this resolution in her office.

12. Publication of Resolution. The City Council hereby directs the City Clerk to publish this resolution as notice of the election.

The Yolo-Solano Air Quality Management District is offering to exchange your gas mower for a new rechargeable "Neuton" mower. With your exchange, the 14" model Neuton (normally $399) is $169, and the 19" cut model (retailing for $499) is $269. The battery-powered motors will reduce pollution and are quiet and easy to use, reports the district. First-come, first served. Mowers are still available. Visit www.neutonpower.com/ys or call 1-800-463-4958 to register. For details on the program, call (800) 287-3650 or visit www.ysaqmd.org.
